Overdraft: Item is paid even when your account does not have enough money based on the balance.

Returned Item: Item is returned when your account does not have enough money based on the balance.

1. Overdraft or Returned Item fees will not be charged if the balance in your account is overdrawn by $10 or less after posting all transactions after the end of the business day.

2. This is in addition to Overdraft or Returned Item fees and applies even if your account is overdrawn by $10 or less.

Mechanics Bank uses the following to determine the balance that is available to pay items to your account each day. First, we take your present balance, which is your balance at the end of the previous business day (also called your current or ledger balance). This will be the balance that appears on your Bank statement each day. Then, we add or subtract any transactions known to the Bank that you've made to your account today (e.g., deposits, debit card transactions, ATM withdrawals, and payments scheduled for today). It doesn't include any checks you may have written but haven't yet been cashed. The remaining balance, less any holds placed on deposits, is your Available Balance (also called your collected balance).

The Available Balance used for ATM and everyday debit card transactions on accounts with Standard Coverage is the ledger balance (previous day's statement balance), plus deposits, less any holds on deposited funds, plus any available Overdraft Protection, but does NOT include the Overdraft Privilege limit. For accounts with Extended Coverage, your Overdraft Privilege limit will be considered when authorizing ATM and everyday debit card transactions.
